

THE SOUTH KENTUCKIAN.

CHAS. M. MEACHAM, EDITOR.

HOPKINSVILLE, APR. 20, 1881.

The Henderson News advertises for a fighting editor. Bristow there's your chance.

Bro. Stiths, of the Clinton Democrat says he will be with us in spirit if not in body at the W. K. P. A. meeting in May.

Mr. Wm. Means the new Democratic mayor of Cincinnati, is being talked of as a candidate for Governor of Ohio.

A Massachusetts preacher took Mother Shipton's prophecy for a text and scores of credulous sinners were scared into the church.

Mr. R. W. Kuntz, of the Courier-Journal staff died at his home in Louisville, last week after a marriage of less than two years.

This is the season of the year when the small boy weeps because his prudent mother thinks it too early for him to begin to go barefooted.

The London Times had Lord Beaconsfield's obituary in type three weeks before his death, patiently waiting for him to die. There is no surprise for you.

W. A. M. Grier, of Pennsylvania, "the original Garfield man" who voted for Garfield at Chicago on every ballot but the first, has been rewarded with the place of third assistant postmaster general.

When a young man gets a letter and carefully removes the postage stamp to see if something is not written under it, you can safely bet thirty-five cents that the letter is not from his home folks.

The wildest and funniest thing we have seen in the papers lately was gotten off by the Louisville Post. The editor of the State news column alludes to the W. K. P. A. as the "mutual admiration society."

An exchange reports the marriage last week of Mr. W. H. Lyon and Miss Lizzie Lamb. It is said to conclude that the production of Scripture, that the lion and the lamb shall lie down together, has been verified, and the millennium must be close at hand.

Two doctors attended Beaconsfield in his last illness. Dr. Kidd, homeopath, and Dr. Quinn, allopath. The latter, of the Courier-Journal remarks, that the saying that both parties end in the same place—the grave—has been verified.

The noblest revenge of the young man who has been jilted is to so completely convince the false hearted creature, from whom he ought to be thankful that he escaped, that she made the mistake of her life by not marrying him.

The Henderson News is running a column of "answers to correspondents" in which it indulges in some fun at the expense of the editorial boards generally. It is in order we would like to ask Bro. Harrison—how much he can eat at a good square meal.

Benjamin Disraeli, Lord Beaconsfield, died in London on the 19th inst. after a long illness. He was the Premier of the British nation and a Jew by birth. His career had been a long one beginning in "obscurity and ending as the most remarkable man of the age.

The State-Journal is such a good paper; that over after it has been carefully perused and clipped, until it looks like it had been used for wrapping up nails, we hope to show it through the hole into our new patented fire-proof exchange box along with the common papers.

Miss Mary Dixon, of Memphis, Tenn., made her debut as an actress at the Olympic theatre St. Louis, last week in the play "Maritana." A large and fashionable audience greeted her and her success is said to have been wonderful. She played Julia in "The Hunchback" and "Camille" on the next two nights following her triumphant debut.

Diabolical died at 5 o'clock A. M., and our darling had papers, giving full particulars of his death with a sketch of his life, published and on sale at 5 o'clock A. M., of the same day, the very hour of the day that he died in London. The difference in the time explains it. The telegrams sent from England at 5 o'clock were received here shortly after midnight.

The Clarksville Tobacco Leaf says the prohibitory marriage bill felt to become a law in Tennessee although it passed one branch of the Legislature. This announcement will be hailed with delight by the young people in this county. No longer than last week a couple of Clarksville lovers eloped to Clarksville and were made one.

Senator Beck recently declared in a speech that Riddleberger would never be elected, that the Democrats to prevent his confirmation would at the proper time nominate a Republican and a Union soldier, who bore the scars of battle, and that his nomination would be seconded by a Republican senator, and Mahone's nomination.

Mrs. Natt an insane woman near Ft. Lewis, killed five of her children by throwing them into a well.

Trip to Clarksville

Owing to a lack of space we were unable to give more than a passing notice of a very pleasant trip to Clarksville on Saturday, 16th inst. In company with twelve members of Evergreen Lodge, K. of P., of this city we went over to have the Wio Men's degree conferred upon us by Cumberland Lodge. The company was composed of the following Knights: J. C. Gant, H. B. Abernathy, J. F. Solomon, A. D. Rodgers, D. G. Wiley, G. N. Campbell, J. K. Gault, Jr., J. L. Wabi, Bailey Waller, Bryan Hopper, Thos. W. Long, Ben Thompson and the writer. We started for Clarksville in buggies Saturday afternoon and arrived there about six o'clock. The crowd was met at the suburbs of the city by a committee of reception and escorted to the Franklin House, where arrangements had been made for the entertainment of all. Here for the time was occupied in shaking hands and making acquaintances, strolling about the city and looking at objects of interest, after all hands had partaken of a hearty supper, till eight o'clock, when the delegation of visiting Knights was invited to the handsome and commodious trolley room, where we must tell the vet of secret fall upon the proceedings of the next two or three hours. About eleven o'clock the entire company numbering probably a hundred, repaired to the dining room of good food and found a feast of good things in the way of a generous banquet in waiting for them. This over we returned to the Lodge room where an hour was spent in speech making and a pleasant interchange of ideas about matters pertaining to the order. The crowd dispersed at a late hour, after having spent a pleasant and profitable evening. The Hopkynville Knights will ever remember with pleasure the courtesy and kind attention of the Clarksville brethren. They seemed to anticipate our every want and left undone nothing that could contribute to our pleasure. All expenses were paid with a whole-souled generosity that could exist only in the bosoms of "nature's noblemen." We left Clarksville with happy recollections of the courtesies shown us, and most favorably impressed with the people of our sister city. The K. of P. Lodge at Clarksville numbers about one hundred members. We cannot refrain from special allusion to Mr. J. G. Joseph. He is the author of the Wio Men's degree and the very life and backbone of the Lodge. The pleasures of the evening were due in a large measure to Mr. Joseph. Our company returned to Hopkynville the following day.

Death Female College Items.

Prof. Steinhagen's lecture on Friday morning was unusually interesting. He noticed the death of Lord Beaconsfield, scanning the salient events of that distinguished life as a statesman, and as a literary character.

Mr. Reynolds, of Philadelphia, and Mr. J. J. Pennington, visited the College on Friday.

Mr. John Rast, a senior from Beloit College, came home Thursday evening and returned on Monday.

The public entertainment of our "Lions" was greeted by a large audience and the polite attention of all present for which we were thankful. With such generous patronage our Library will soon grow to importance. Prof. Hine's after piece was considered a happy item in the unpublished program. However severe and just as a disciplinarian he sometimes speaks a very much to the gratification of the toiling pupils. The delightful social closed at the wee small hour of twelve. So far, as we have been able to learn, without any disastrous results to either heads or hearts.

MACEDONIA.

A few of our farmers have begun to plant corn.

Some of our farmers complain that tobacco plants that were in the double were killed during the last cold snap.

A bevy of wild turkeys has been a sore temptation to our sportsmen for the past two weeks.

Wheat begins to make a show now, and the farmers of this section are cheerful once more.

Punches so far as your correspondent has been able to ascertain, are not in the future, unless something happens to them. In the future, the chance is good for a fine yield.

Mr. John T. Wright, of Nashville's great your city has sent us an order for a cargo of hens to raise from. The presumption is that John contains plates compelling matrimony soon.

Married. On the night of the 19th inst. at the residence of the groom's father near this place, Mr. Rad Parker to Miss Mollie Oshrooks, Rev. Hiram Parker officiating. All of the vicinity. It is echoed around that several other like rash acts are in book.

We are pained with the intelligence that Mr. Charles Otis, an estimable citizen of this vicinity is undergoing an attack of pneumonia.

Several cases of pneumonia and typhoid fever are spoken of in the region of Tradewater.

Died, at her home near McKnight's Mill, Little Currie the only surviving daughter of the late James H. McKnight. The saddest son was hopelessly ill at last account.

All the perishable property of J. R. McKnight, deceased, was offered for sale to the presence of an immense assembly. Every thing brought a liberal price also the property of Jas. Otis, deceased, was sold last Tuesday. Liberal prices ruled the day.

We have had such beautiful weather, I could not help feeling poetical and have often thought that I would make an effort at poetry, but Bill Rogers has taken the rag off the leaf, and the first premium of the list, so the rag said, to the trap that got his tail I will have to be content with what I have.

Excursion to Nashville.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad will sell tickets to Nashville, Tenn., as follows: April 27th, 28th and 29th, from Hopkynville, Green, Hopkinsville, Memphis, Paducah, and all intermediate stations, to Nashville, at one fare, including meals for the round trip. On Monday and Wednesday, of each week, during the Exposition, single round-trip tickets will be sold from Hopkynville, Tennessee, and North as far as Hopkinsville, and South as far as Montgomery, at six cents per mile one way. Parties of five and under, and parties of ten and over, will be sold tickets one way during the Exposition, at greatly reduced rates, which may be ascertained on application to any station agent.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad Company has issued a circular, containing a list of the names of the passengers who will be traveling on the business of the old firm.

The members of Evergreen Lodge K. of P. met last night for the purpose of organizing a drill corps. We went to press too early to give particulars.

Dr. J. H. Lackey, of Canton, Ky., who is in the city working up the order of Chosen Friends, informs us that he has secured 131 names here and will organize a council in a few days. He will organize lodges at several other places in the county also.

BELLEVIEW.

The peach trees are in full bloom. Making it now the order of the day. The late cold weather damaged the tobacco plants somewhat.

Farmers are rather backward planting corn, on account of so much rain. Wheat is looking well in this section and promises a fair crop.

Rev. J. A. Lewis preached at new Shiloh last Sunday. The church will be dedicated next third Sunday by Rev. John W. Lewis, of Henderson. All are invited to come and bring their baskets.

Prof. Ashton commenced a singing school at West Union last week. Mr. Ashton is an experienced teacher, and I guarantee will give satisfaction.

Mr. J. W. McFetchee has just returned with his stock of new goods. Give him a call.

A show at Black-Jack school house a few nights ago.

Miss Lizzie Cox returned home from school last Friday, accompanied by several young ladies from your city.

Misses Ida and Julia Baker were also at home.

Mr. Brunsall's Piqua was among the visitors Sunday.

HERE AND THERE.

The soda fountains opened up last week with a free treat all round.

Don't take down your stores yet; April weather, like girls, is very uncertain and changeable.

Straw hats made their appearance last week on the heads of those who were disposed to crowd the season.

The Commencement Sermon of the College will be preached Sunday evening, June 5th, by Rev. S. H. Brown, of Hopkinsville.—Logan College Academic.

Prof. West will go to Garrettsburg next Sunday to assist the pastor of Olivet church in organizing a Sunday school.

We are requested to say that the Tobacco Fair at Fairview, Kentucky, will be held May 14th, 1881. The usual premiums will be offered.

Mr. Rodgers could not arrange for the re-appearance of Miss Fetter at Mozart Hall during the present month. She will not visit the city again this season.

The bright days last week caused vegetation to begin to grow, and there is no longer any doubt that winter has ceased to linger in the lap of spring.

Mr. Jas. M. Hamlin, agent for the National Mutual Benefit Association, was in the city several days of last week in the interest of his company. He insured several persons.

Mr. Leo late of St. Louis, is in the city and will locate here. He will open up a staple and fancy grocery in a few days and will strive to merit a share of the public patronage.

We are glad to see that Mr. Milton Gant has made an auspicious beginning in his new departure of selling for cash. Shoppers find that they can get such large reductions that they are becoming convinced of the fact that the cash plan is the cheapest.

While some cattle were being driven down Main street Saturday one of them became obstreperous and ran into Jas. Pyc's clothing house. In trying to get out the animal broke a fine show case and like the "bull in the china shop" smashed things up generally.

We are informed that burglars entered Mr. I. Dinkelspell kitchen one night last week and took several articles of value. On the same night a thief on the outside, attempted to raise a window of the colored Methodist church and appropriate a hat that was in the window, while the congregation was at prayer. He was detected in the act, and dropped the hat and ran away before he could be recognized.

Belle Edmunds and Map Leavelle, two colored women had quite a "wampus" one evening last week. When the police swooped down on them they were having a regular rough and tumble "set to" on Webster street. They were taken before Judge McCarroll and the value of their belligerent amusement fixed at ten dollars each with the necessary trimmings.

The lion draweth nigh when winter yielded up the ghost and the earth donned her fresh garments of green. Young America throweth away his shreds and rejects in his heart that spring time hath come. The fruit trees are filled with blossoms and leaves and the birds build their nests therein. Tholozan leaveth his winter retreat and the scream of the third female is heard. The black snake crawleth forth from his hole in the ground and devoureth the spring chicken while it is young. The woods will soon be filled with picnic parties and the festive seedling will be abroad in the land. The fleece will be clipped from the back of the sheep and the young colt gamboleth by the side of his dam. The turkey goeth forth to make her nest in the brush and the mother hen clucketh to the juvenile brood that is destined to be fried. The fisherman goeth forth with his pole and bait and the housewife scrubbeth up the dirt of the past. The daughters of the fathers must have cow hats and the young man swageth on the gate of his beloved. The wild flowers bloom by the roadside and the editor doleth up his gun to kill the spring poet. Yes, all these things betoken the nearness of spring.

Mrs. Cox, wife of Fountain Cox, Esq., living some miles from the city, died very suddenly Sunday night.

The Entertainment at Bethel Female College.

The second public entertainment of the Lotus Literary Society was given at the College last Friday night.

A large crowd filled the College chapel at an early hour, expecting to be pleasantly entertained, and not one person was disappointed.

The exercises were opened with an instrumental duet, by Misses Mamie Hunt and Flora Trice. Miss Kate Given then followed with a recitation which called forth vociferous applause from the audience.

Miss Annie Waller's vocal solo was next and right well did she acquit herself.

Then followed a dialogue "How they kept the secret," in which the several characters were well sustained by Misses Mary Gage, Mattie Dennis, Ella Threlkeld, Kate Woodbridge, Jessie Whitaker, Carrie McCutcheon, Alva Coleman and Gennie Lowry.

Miss Minnie Fleming next followed in a galop.

The recitation by Miss Lillie Woodbridge was delivered in that young lady's usually impressive and pulseworthy manner. Her recitation never failed to elicit the highest encomiums.

The calisthenic drill was next.

One of the most interesting features of the entertainment was the reading of the paper by Miss Mary Gage, one of its editors. The local boys were enjoyed by all except the unfortunate who were "taken off."

The brevity of the dialogue was its only fault.

The tableaux were good.

Miss Annie Waller, with a very beautiful and well delivered recitation next entertained the audience. When over she recited a piece it is done well and her effort upon this occasion received the applause it merited.

The vocal solo by Miss Mamie Martin was listened to attentively and greeted with applause.

The next dialogue, in which Miss Bettie English figured as the district school master, was very laughable.

Miss Allie Hopkins as the "big boy" brought down the house.

The exercises of the evening were closed with a vocal solo by Miss Mary Gage, followed by a recitation by Miss Hopkins, in which she held the audience spell bound, and so intense was the silence, that a pin could have been heard to drop.

The piece was a very feeling and pathetic one, and the young lady, always good at recitation, fairly collapsed herself. She was applauded to the echo.

At this stage Prof. Rust came forward, and in his usual happy manner stated, that although it was not down on the programme, he had decided to suspend the rules of the institution, and allow the young gentlemen to see the young ladies till twelve o'clock. This announcement was received with manifestations of approval and delight, and soon the young folks were paired off in the corners discussing the weather, the approach of spring, etc. Time passed on rapidly and when two hours later the bell announced the hour for departure, the young gentlemen tore themselves away with great reluctance. The evening was passed pleasantly by everyone present, and the young gentlemen will live in hopes that Prof. Rust will give them another such opportunity to cultivate the acquaintance of the young ladies at an early day.

Arrest of J. B. Cannon.

A young man named Jas. B. Cannon was arrested last week for having stated that he killed the negro Kiah Baker, on the night of the 11th inst. He was at a log rolling and while somewhat under the influence of liquor remarked that he "shot that nigger Saturday night." Several persons heard the statement and he was reported to deputy sheriff Boyd sent out to arrest him. He was brought in and lodged in jail and his trial set for yesterday afternoon, but we go to press too early to give the result of the trial. Cannon is prosecuted by County Attorney Brasher and defended by Col. L. A. Syper. He now claims that he only made the statement in jest and that he will prove an alibi. A large number of witnesses have been summoned. Cannon is a young man about 25 years old. Later: He was acquitted.

We threw an apple of discord into Bethel Female College the other day by directing a paper to the "prattiest young lady at the College." We have not yet learned which one got it.

A negro attempted to steal a pair of shoes from the New York store Saturday by slipping them under his coat. He was detected by the clerk, made to pay for the shoes, and then turned over to the authorities and given thirty days in the lock-up.

The Hart calls attention this week to his extensive stock of dry goods. His stock is now one of the most complete in this city and his prices are as low as the lowest. Call and be convinced. Remember the place, Elk's old stand, Main street.

The Jewish ladies of Hopkinsville are requested to attend a meeting at Mrs. B. Rosenbaum's on next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock for the purpose of reorganizing the Sunday school.
